

Testimonials from Recent Wah! Media Customers

“Through the development of www.teentruth.org our office experienced the hard work, dedication, thorough planning and execution upheld by Wah! Media staff. The progressive, creative technology of Web-Automated Human Interaction gave us the perfect venue for education through media. Since this technology was developed by the company itself, they take genuine pride in their work and it is evident from start to finish. Working with WAHI media was a great experience and we are very pleased with our product.”

“I came across Wah! Media online one day while looking for some “outside the box” ideas to get out gang awareness program of the ground. We decided to give their business office a call What happened after that blew our minds.

By the time we had finished our gang project, we had spent the same amount of money that we would have spent developing and implementing a traditional classroom gang awareness program and turned it into a “attention grabbing” production beyond our wildest dreams. Not only was this program more powerful than our traditional programs, but could reach 10x more children than anything we could have imagined. Not to mention, those who were traditionally closed minded to innovation stood and applauded when we demonstrated our project, “Virginia Gang Story”, at a board meeting. Everyone agreed that it was efficiency and innovation at its best.

Wah! Media changed the way we keep our children safe from gangs in Virginia and it is my hope that we can use Wah! Media again to spread the message of safety and awareness on many other public safety issues facing the Commonwealth in the very near future.”
